When his father left him on the island, lyash cried himself to sleep. He fell into a long sleep. It was during this sleep that things were revealed to him. lyash had a vision in which the Creator showed him the events past, the present, and what was to be. This is similiar to the story written of John in the bible, in the Book of Revelations, how God revealed to him all sorts of things in his dream while

The Keewaytinook Internet High School makes it possible for young people to stay in their home community to obtain their secondary school courses...

Grand Opening

Keewaytinook Internet High School

Before the modern ways of communication like the telephone, television, radio, & the Internet, the Anishnawbe People of Keewaytinook Okimakanak would use the routes of lakes and water systems to communicate with each other.

The persons in the canoe are the Students of KIHS on their High School journey.

The water that you see is the route of the Internet that the students of KIHS are using for High School.

The background setting is the North. Their home from where they can accomplish this journey.
